The test scores are as follows:

Reading out of 45	Writing out of 20	Mathematics out of 40	General Ability out of 60
-------------------	-------------------	-----------------------	---------------------------

- The Selective High School Placement Profile Score is a mark out of 300. This mark is used to rank candidates. It is calculated based on school assessment scores (schools provide assessment scores for English and Maths out of 100, based on performance in the year 4 and 5 curriculum) and the selective schools placement test.
- The minimum entry score for a selective high school is the test score of the lowest scoring student to accept a place there. Students may list up to four preferred schools.
- This is the list of NSW selective high schools including 17 fully selective high schools, 25 high schools with selective classes (partially selective) a virtual selective class provision and 4 agricultural high schools.
- In 2013, the number of vacancies was 4,114 and the number of applicants was 13,570.
